Twelve Candidates Run For Five GHI Board Vacancies

A final total of twelve candidates will compete for the five openings on the board of directors at the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) annual election on Wednesday and Thursday, May 14 and 15. Balloting will begin shortly after 8 p. m. at the Wednesday night meeting at the Greenbelt Theater and continue the next day from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. at the Twin Pines office at the Center.

The latest candidate to announce is Lee Buchanan, 2-K Eastway. He now joins the five incumbents — Charles Schwan, John O'Reilly, James W. Smith (Greenhill Rd.), Norman Weyel, and Josephine Seay and six other announced hopefuls: Dorn Kirk Brasfield, Aram Beloian, David Lange, Lee Shields, Norman Charles, and Alexander Chavrid. Biographies of the candidates appear on an inside page of this issue. All openings are for two-year terms.

Also to be elected is a 3-member audit committee for 1-year terms. Candidates are Janet James Thomas White, Milton Hoffman, Robert Lauber, and James Foster. The first two are incumbents.

A nominations and elections committee consisting of 5 members will be elected for a 1-year term through nominations from the floor at the Wednesday night meeting.

Voting for candidates is by secret ballot, with each member asked to vote for as many choices as there are vacancies. The candidates getting the highest number of votes are declared winners. Unlike city elections, no previous registration is needed to vote. All GHI members of record as of April 23, 1969 are eligible to vote. Each family is entitled to only one ballot and voting card.

By-laws changes

In addition to the elections, the membership will have before it by law changes. The amendments for the most part are intended to bring the by-laws into conformity with corporation policies and practices that have developed over the years and to clarify provisions that have produced confusion.

Similar by-laws proposed at last year's annual membership meeting were tabled after charges that the by-laws were developed in secrecy and that the membership had not been given sufficient explanation of the reasons for the changes.

This year the by-laws were proposed by a committee of non-board members and a full explanation of the changes were mailed to the membership.

Among the major by-law

changes are:

(1) Clarification of powers of GHI board; (2) clarification of rights of those whose membership is being considered for termination for cause; (3) clarification as to when a newly-elected nominations and elections committee assumes office; (4) authorization to invest funds in Treasury obligations; (5) clarification of the order of business at annual and special membership meetings; (6) clarification of procedures when a quorum is not present; (7) new procedures for filling board vacancies when more than four occur at one time; (8) clarification of provisions regarding membership approval when monthly operating payments are scheduled to increase by 10 percent or more.

Also, there is a by-law proposal that the board not be empowered to enter into new fields of business enterprise, without prior approval of the membership at a membership meeting.

A two-thirds vote of the membership present is required for approval of by-law changes.

Attendance of five percent of the membership or about 75 persons is required for the conduct of official business. Four door prizes of $25 each will be awarded at the Wednesday evening meeting. Members must be present to be eligible.

$957,300 Budget Presented to Council No Increase in Tax Rate Proposed

by Al Skolnik

A municipal city budget for 1969-70 proposing no increase in the property tax rate was submitted by city manager James K. Giese to city council on Monday, May 5. This was made possible, Giese said, by the existence from the previous fiscal year and the expectation from the present fiscal year of substantial surplus funds due primarily to revenues exceeding estimates. Without the surplus, he added, the fiscal year 1970 budget would be unbalanced and it would be necessary to increase the tax rate by 15 cents. The present tax rate is $0.85 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Because of the lag between new construction growth and revenues resulting therefrom, current revenues are reflecting more the banner year of 1967, which saw the greatest growth in the city's history, than 1968, which saw less growth than any of the five previous years. Giese warned of the likelihood that next year the tax rate will have to be increased, since expenditures will be increasing more rapidly than revenues.

Among the factors cited by Giese for the latter situation were:

- (1) Need to expand services to meet the needs of an increased population resulting from the rapid growth of previous years.
- (2) Rapid inflationary trends, particularly in salary and wage expense.
- (3) Increased debt service expenses due to the newly authorized $950,000 bond issue.
- (4) Increased costs to meet citizen demands for the performance of higher levels of service.

$957,300 Budget

The proposed budget provides for total expenditures during fiscal year 1970 of $957,300. This represents an increase of $142,200 over the 1969 fiscal year appropriation of $815,100—an increase of 17 percent. These expenditures will be financed from anticipated revenues and a surplus of $74,000 realized from the past fiscal year and expected for the current fiscal year.

The proposed budget requires the collection of $422,050 in real and personal property taxes for the 1970 fiscal year. Each $4,960 in expenditures accounts for one cent on the tax rate.

The city council has scheduled its first budget review meeting for this Monday, May 12. The budget must be adopted by June 10. A public meeting date has yet to be set.

Major Expenditure Items

The major items contributing to the net increase of $142,200 in the budget are as follows:

- (1) $53,000 for across-the-board salary increases in order to bring city salaries more in line with

Md. Court of Appeals Sustains Judgment in News Review Suit

A unanimous Maryland Court of Appeals on Friday, May 2, affirmed the $17,500 libel judgment awarded local developer Charles S. Bresler against the Greenbelt News Review in a January 1968 Prince Georges Circuit Court jury verdict.

The suit was originally filed in July 1966 by Bresler, whose principal charge was that the newspaper published material that had the purpose of imputing to him, falsely and maliciously, "the commission of the crime of blackmail." This was a reference to articles appearing in October 1965 which quoted Greenbelt citizens at a city council meeting as characterizing as "blackmail" a proposal of Bresler and associates that sought city support for re-

LAKESIDERS TO PICNIC

All families belonging to the Lakeside Citizens Association are invited to the annual picnic, to be held between 1 and 5 p. m., Saturday, May 10, at the Lake Park. Cold drinks will be provided, but families should bring their own picnic lunches. Especially requested are musical instruments of any sort which can be used to encourage group singing or provide solo or ensemble entertainment.

In case of rain the picnic will be postponed until the same time on Sunday.

zoning one tract of land at higher density in exchange for making available at an acceptable price another property for a senior high school site.

The appellant News Review had argued that the word "blackmail" was an expression of opinion used in a non-criminal, colloquial sense to mean the exercise of pressure, but Judge Wilson K. Barnes, who wrote the opinion for the five-man Court of Appeals, said that the intended meaning was for the jury to determine. "The charging of Mr. Bresler with having committed blackmail could be found by the jury (as it was) that he was charged with the commission of a crime," he said.

Judge Barnes rejected the appellant's argument that the "blackmail" articles were constitutionally protected because they were accurate reports of what was said during official public meetings of the Greenbelt city council regarding a public proposal of great interest to the community. The court ruled that the Federal constitutional protection provided by the New York Times rule did not apply since there was "credible evidence" from which the jury could find that the newspaper published the articles with actual knowledge of the falsity of the charge of the commission of the crime of blackmail.

(The New York Times rule precludes recovery in libel suits by public officials and public figures except where they can prove that a false and defamatory statement was made with knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not.)

"Nothing at the public meeting," Judge Barnes said, "justified the charge that Bresler had committed blackmail."

Other Charge

Another charge in the suit was a published statement that a group of homeowners had "started legal proceedings against Bresler for failure to make construction corrections in accordance with county standards."

The judge characterized this statement as "false." He found that the failure of the newspaper to check either court records or with Mr. Bresler personally could be justified by the jury as amounting to "a reckless disregard of the truth." The News Review had argued that the statement was based on information obtained from 15 to 20 homeowners following a CFPG meeting and that the failure to check records at most indicated negligence, which is constitutionally insufficient under the New York Times rule to establish "actual malice."

The court concluded that "there were sufficient facts to indicate to the jury an affirmative hostility, a personal animus against Bresler and a desire on the part of the publishers of the News Review to injure his reputation and standing in the Greenbelt area through the use of false charges." The Court of Appeals also found no prejudicial error in the rulings and charge of the trial court.

An appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court is being considered by the News Review.

Nursery School to Host Human Behavior Speaker

Dr. Hatfield's field of research is the aesthetic experience in human behavior, and her topic for the evening is "Being fully there!"

Zoning Approved For Auto Repair Center At Co-op

The county commissioners, sitting as the District Council, approved on Wednesday, May 7, a special zoning exception for an automobile repair center at the Co-op Gas Station on Southway Road, but with certain restrictions.

These restrictions had been proposed by the city council and were based on the recommendations of the city's Advisory Planning Board. They included (1) adequate sight fencing of approximately 6 feet high; (2) planting of shrubs and trees, particularly on the slopes that lead away from the property; and (3) limitation on the types of vehicles stored in the fenced-in area.

At last Monday's council meeting, councilman Bill Hoff voted against the special exception since he felt that GCS had in the past failed to live up to its promise of keeping the area from becoming unsightly.

Full Support To the Editor:

The decision of the Court of Appeals in the News Review case was a severe disappointment to Greenbelters. We were hopeful that the court would uphold the right of a newspaper to report fairly and fully the discussion of a major public issue at an open meeting of the City Council.

Now the decision of the Court of Appeals will have to be studied carefully before it can be determined whether the next step should be taken—to request review by the Supreme Court of the United States. In the meantime, for the citizens of the community, the Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee wishes to express its continuing complete confidence in and full support for the News Review.

GHI Bylaw Amendments Letter to the Editor:

A year ago, the GHI board of directors presented a set of proposed by-law amendments to the membership at the annual meeting. They were presented without written explanation and without sufficient material for the members to determine the context. The membership tabled the proposals.

A new By-Laws Committee was appointed, composed of Bruce Bowman, Chairman, Matthew Amberg, David Lange, and Thomas White. None of the four are currently GHI board members, contrary to a report in last week's News Review. The committee decided to present full explanations and complete text for those sections being amended. Its recommendations were presented at two special meetings of the board and agreement was achieved on nearly all of the proposals. It was hoped that this agreement and the manner of presentation would greatly reduce the usual amount of highly detailed arguments at the annual meetings.

Unfortunately the material sent to the membership by the board in advance of this year's annual meeting fails again to meet an acceptable standard. The text considered desirable by the committee has been omitted in three sections and two other sets of amendments have no explanation at all. Moreover, the material has numerous errors. Many are simply words which were capitalized by the typist but several words have been changed and an entire phrase is missing in one instance. A list of the errors will be sent to the President of GHI prior to the meeting. While many of the errors are trivial, the by-law amendments which are approved by the membership must be precisely correct. Unfortunately, the carelessness of preparation means that the membership will have to be concerned with the fine details of the language as well as the content of the proposed amendments.

A Quiet, Dedicated Man

To the Editor:

Shortly after dawn, on the morning of Wednesday, April 2, 1969, a Greenbelt councilman was photographing the latest landslide at Beltway Plaza. Throughout the day he was initiating action to solve this problem, and was otherwise involved in the complex and often frustrating affairs of our community. At 4:30 a.m. the following morning, Thursday, April 3, after only a few hours sleep, the same councilman was one of the many homeless from the apartment fires of that dreadful day.

Notwithstanding his own shock and exhaustion, he provided breakfast for the firemen and then on behalf, not of himself, but of his fellow victims, sought shelter and housing, arranged for transportation, located volunteers, found and made donation of food, secured clothing donation, and engaged in the physical tasks of loading, transporting and unloading these same donations. Early the next morning he collapsed. He was in the hospital three weeks, and his council salary for that period was contributed to the disaster relief fund.

Now he is back with us, and we can all be proud of our friend, this quiet, dedicated man, Leo Gerton.

Lee Buchanan 2-K Eastway

Born to Presbyterian missionary parents in Africa, was educated in the Midwest, receiving my M.D. at the University of Iowa. My interest in people living and working in groups with common interests was whetted by interning in a Mormon Hospital in Salt Lake City; doing general practice in a mining town in Wyoming; then learning more of their quirks by studying psychiatry at the Menninger Foundation in Kansas. I then worked in a Co-op hospital of the employees of the Santa Fe Railroad. After that I learned something of the needs of college students at the University of Colorado; next of the trials of our unsung heroes in C.I.A.

Now as Medical Director for U.S.D.A. I fuss and worry over 100,000 workers who keep the farmer going, protect the consumer, and feed and train a good share of the world's people.

I moved to Greenbelt because I heard of Eleanor's dream of the 30's. I feel interested and responsible together with my wife Marti and my daughter Wendy in keeping that dream alive in the 70's.

Dear Mr. President:

THIS MOTHER'S DAY, no flowers, no candy . . . .

Just bring our sons home from Viet-Nam alive. Our nation is being destroyed by this monstrous war. Our sons are being asked to die and kill in defense of a regime that denies its people all basic freedoms. Our sons have to choose between fighting in a war they know is wrong and facing jail or exile.

We share their anguish. We will not silently consent to sending them off to a war we too know is wrong. We support their growing opposition.

One more day of war is too long. One more son is too many.
